The Williamsburg security storm door has the look of classic wood but the strength and ultra low maintenance of steel. The classic 6 panel design is vintage colonial and has been the standard for storm doors all over Virginia for years. Although the authentic wooden storm doors look nice, they are not very functional or energy efficient. They also require periodic painting and adjustments due to the constant swelling and shrinking of wood. The Williamsburg is constructed of heavy duty steel and is factory pre-finished in 10 color choices. It comes in a fully weatherstripped frame and has a double blade bottom weather seal. Along with its heavy duty construction comes tamper resistant hinges, vault style hinge pins and a full mortise and deadbolt lock to provide maximum security for your home.
